

Jonathan Magno AKA: Captain Merrill

As for Captain Merrill, the mysterious freelancer was born and raised in a small port town along the outskirts of the Sri Vijaya Empire. Born to a Western trader and local woman, Captain Merrill spent a childhood entranced by tales of adventure and exploration. However, the declining empire brought poverty and hardship to Merrill's village. He made a vow to travel forth in search of fame and riches to build and support his distant home. Thus, the beginning of the WarBow Free Companies.

On his many travels, Captain Merrill knew that there would be dangers. So he made it a point to find teachers to increase his knowledge of the world. Whether it be through books or with others, he consistently found ways to increase his skillset. Procuring many volumes and teachers from every walk of life. Although the lessons from prize fighters, weapons masters, and rogues who could scale across any obstacle held closer to his heart.
